TALK OF THE TOWN

Mrs. George Colby of Williamstown was a business visitor in Barre yesterday.

Special exhibit of trimmed millinery at Mrs. Birnie's millinery opening, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 16 and 17.—adv.

Miss Dora A. Blouin has returned home from a visit with friends and relatives in Montreal, P. Q., and Newport.

The Knights of Pythias will hold a corn roast at Chauncey Bixby's farm on Beckley hill Monday night, weather permitting.

Congregational Philatheas, attention! A brief business meeting will be held immediately after the morning service to-morrow.

Special for Saturday, 25 trimmed hats in black and colors, your choice, $3.50 each. Miss Whitney's, 168 North Main street.—adv.

The Gaiety club will hold its monthly dance at the K. of C. hall Tuesday evening, Sept. 16. Carroll's orchestra will furnish music.

William Moir of Liberty street, who has been visiting in White River Junction and attending the fair the past week, has returned.

Members of the Eastern Star and their families are invited to a corn roast at Shepard's grove on the Montpelier road Tuesday evening, Sept. 16.

Mrs. J. P. Nourse, manager of the Adams company store, has returned after spending a few days in New York in the interests of the Adams company store.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bishop of East Barre have gone to Boston to visit their son, George, and also to Worcester, Mass., to visit his brother, who resides there.

A meeting of the amusement committee of the Degree of Pochontas will be held at the home of Mrs. Jaffrey, 89 Currier street, Monday night, Sept. 15, at 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flint of Boston, who were married last Wednesday in Boston, arrived last night as visiting friends and relatives in Barre for a few days.

Max Fisher, Guy Varnum and Neil Hooker have returned from Burlington, where they went to attend the meeting of the representatives of Vermont in the American Legion.

Edwin Smith of White River Junction, formerly a teacher in Spaulding high school, is now a teacher at the Central high school at Springfield, Mass., having entered upon that engagement this week.

Mrs. Mariani will hold her millinery opening Saturday. Ladies of this vicinity are invited to inspect her nice line of the season's latest in hats. Money saved on purchases now. No. 1 Pearl street.—adv.

The three deputy sheriffs, Jerry Donahue of Granville, George Howe and Harry Gamble, who were assigned to the state fair grounds to assist in patrol work there during the past few days, returned to the city last evening, since the fair was brought to a close yesterday. Dallas Merlo and Paul Scampini, who had a sideshow there during the week, returned last evening with their two-headed mystery of the animal world.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Fuller, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Fuller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Howard of 6 Averill street, left to-day for their home in Brooklyn, N. Y. They spent most of the summer at Joe's pond, West Danville, where Mr. Fuller, who is publicity director of the national child labor committee and managing editor of "The American Child," prepared for publication a report of a state recreational survey which he made in Kentucky last spring.

While driving towards Williamstown Wednesday evening in his Overland runabout car, J. T. Sullivan lost a front wheel of his car as the result of a collision. A large seven-passenger Buick car going at a fast rate on route from the state fair crashed against the smaller car, bending the mudguard back to the body of the car and dividing the wheel into several pieces. Neither Mr. Sullivan nor his wife, who were riding in the smaller car, suffered any injuries; and it was fortunate for them that they didn't, as the larger car continued on its way with hopes of eluding the owner of the runabout. Mr. Sullivan secured the fleeing car's number before it had time to get away from sight.

Back in the old days when folks who subscribed to The Happy Home Circle (52 numbers for 25 cents) and over in the column next to Odd Items from Everywhere read the alluring ad, that offered four full quarts for $3, with a handsome dandelion as a bonus, and a pint of some other aged brand—back in those days, when soda fountains were pleasure resorts for women and children, it used to be said that Old John Barleycorn possessed the ingredients that cured headaches and opened eyes.

This myth found favor for many years thereafter, and John Barleycorn held his throne with Kaiser Bill. Both have been dethroned, but now after traveling for two months across the sands of prohibition many of the old-timers are asking, "Will John Barleycorn ever come back? Has he suffered the fate of the Lost Charlie Ross?" Those are the popular questions in and about Barre by those who consider Adam's Ale (pure spring water) only as a fire extinguisher or garden irrigator. "Yep, he's coming back. Here on or about Oct. 1." These affirmatives are accredited to those who are keeping tally on the number of men that are getting home from France. Ever since June 30, bartenders and licensees have kept open house in their lodges of sorrow, with the one consoling thought that John Barleycorn would be resurrected. It has been a pretty dull summer for merchandizing beverages of the amber hue and the TNT punch, and if they read the signs aright the folks most interested—next to the downright thirsty—in the anti-prohibition wave will soon be donning their white aprons. It is explained that the period of demobilization is almost at hand; that when the president's proclamation definitely fixes demobilization as already accomplished, the lid on liquor will be automatically lifted. In other words, beer and whiskey vendors are no longer looking for a special proclamation enabling them to resume operations. It won't be necessary, they say. Meanwhile, the business of home brewing is said to be booming here in Barre. Beer barrels are at a premium and amateur brewers who have been successful in perfecting a satisfactory beverage in the home cellar are much in demand among their neighbors. In most instances the neighbors are ready with the recipe, but they want the amateurs to serve in an advisory capacity. Apples hitherto allowed to freeze are going to be set aside this fall, and not for appearance either. Elderberries have enjoyed a big run and the once despised dandelion has made many friends. But after all, there isn't much interest in demobilization progress.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Parker's Harness Shop, opposite Park theatre, will be closed all day Monday for Sale—Ford car, nearly new. In good running order. Elmer Scott. Tel. 279-2, Granville.

For Sale—Cottage style Glenwood range, gas attachment. At J. R. Tierney's, 48 South Main street.

Arthur Camire of east hill has returned from a two weeks' vacation spent in Sherbrooke and Montreal, P. Q.

Mrs. Mary Macdonald of 41 Liberty street went to St. Albans to-day, to be the guest of Mrs. T. R. Waugh for a few days.

Mrs. A. Birnie cordially invites the ladies of Barre and vicinity to attend her millinery opening Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 16 and 17, at 4 Laurel street. She will show a large display of trimmed hats.—adv.

Richard W. Churchill, after 15 months' service with the A. E. F., arrived at the home of his father, R. E. Churchill, in Berlin, Wednesday morning, having received his discharge.

MONTPELIER

Judge F. M. Butler left yesterday morning for his home in Rutland for the week end after having heard one divorce case Friday morning. It was the case of Agnes Benedict vs. Fred Benedict on the ground of intolerable severity, in which the court took the matter under advisement.

In probate court Friday A. G. Fay of Barre settled his account in the estate of Burt W. Sanders, late of Barre City, while Stephen B. Joslyn of Waitsfield settled his account as administrator of the estate of Elizabeth Baird, late of that town, and administrator de bonis non of the estates of Hugh and Isabella Baird of Waitsfield.

The work of constructing a bridge in place of a culvert on Town hill is progressing well in spite of the rain this week. The heavy fall of rain the first of the week made the people of that section appreciate the new culvert, for it is the first time in years in such a heavy fall of rain as occurred Tuesday that the culvert has carried away the water, avoiding damage to the road.

Rugene Buck, who is in charge of the job, has found that the old culvert was almost closed up in places. The heavy rain of this week has not affected the new piece of road that E. A. Witham constructed on Cliff street. It is the first time in years that this piece of road has not been washed out with each heavy storm.

Ted Sullivan, who is employed on the Montpelier & Wells River railroad, experienced an automobile accident Thursday evening, while driving his car between Barre and Williamstown, when another car ran into him. The car which met him was running at high speed, so much so that it threw Sullivan's car crosswise of the road, tearing one wheel of the machine off and doing other damage to the car. The number of the car that did the damage has been given to the secretary of state, and the owner is known, and probably the suspension of the license will occur if prompt report on the matter is not made, 24 hours having elapsed since the accident occurred.

M. H. Alexander of St. Albans, a member of the present House of Representatives, was in the city Friday. He came here in connection with a case in which he is defending in Washington county court, but the week-end adjournment had taken place.

Tax Commissioner John M. Avery is looking up matters relative to two cases which are on the general docket in Washington county court and which were continued last Tuesday, when the docket was called. These are Vermont vs. the American Express company and Vermont vs. the National Express company, both of which were actions brought in general assumpsit by C. A. Plumley and docketed November 11, 1914. Sargent, Stickney & Skeels were the defending attorneys for the first company. It is understood these were actions brought to recover the taxes of the express companies. If the matters have been straightened out, probably these cases will go off the docket.

D. N. Hunt was knocked down by James Ford's automobile near the crossing at the foot of East State street about 10 o'clock last evening. Mr. Hunt, it seems, was crossing the street when Mr. Ford came around the post at the head of State street. Mr. Ford was driving his car slowly, and it looked as though Mr. Hunt did not hear the car approaching. The curtains were down on the automobile, so that the driver could not see sideways much. Mr. Hunt appeared to have been hit by the headlight of the automobile. Mr. Ford stopped his car, carrying Mr. Hunt but a few feet. Quite a large crowd gathered. Mr. Hunt did not seem much injured, other than being shaken up.

It was to Joseph Belisle and son, Felix, instead of to Joseph Belisle and wife, that A. A. Sargent doctored the tubelike place on lower street, after he had received the deed from Arthur Chisholm and wife.

Mrs. Louis Gould and Daughley, her son, are enjoying an automobile trip to New York.

George Reed has returned from Marlboro, where he has been inspecting a federal aid project on highways.

Miss Ruth Jones is handling the librarian work of the Historical society until a successor to Mrs. Brainard Adams, who recently resigned, to be married, is selected.

Miss Linda Crane was in Middlesex last evening to attend a reception given in Holden hall by the people of that village in honor of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Wanda Miles, which occurred a week ago. It was a surprise. Mrs. Harry Daniels, on the part of those attending, presented Mr. and Mrs. Miles a purse of $75, while there were also some other gifts. Refreshments were served. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Mr. Miles replied to the presentation of the gift.

H. M. McIntosh, state engineer, reports that the work on the international bridge between Richford and Sutton is progressing in good shape. The construction of the floor of the bridge is completed, while the sides of the bridge are now under construction. It is a concrete bridge of two 67-foot spans and a pier in the center of the Missisquoi river.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"Flo Flo" at Barre Opera House Next
Wednesday Evening.

"Flo Flo," John Cort's big musical comedy, production comes to the Barre opera house Wednesday, Sept. 17, following an all-year's run in New York and successful engagements in Boston and Chicago. "Flo Flo" has all of the graces of the musical comedy of the past and any number of new ones which are essentially her own, including a chorus of matchless beauty and grace, a scenic background which has never been equaled in swiftness and a typical John Cort cast of musical comedy favorites, including Hazel Alger, Ben Hastings, Carl George, Augustus Buell, Eddie Lloyd, Elf Lorraine, Elsa Thomas, George Pierce, Frank Masters. The chorus incidentally numbers nothing but "perfect 36" models and has that rare medium, a sense of humor, exhibited at each performance in a series of eccentric dances.—adv.

"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath."

Of all the laughing hits of last season, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," seems to have captured first place in popularity. This unusual farce comedy by C. W. Bell and Mark Swan, was one of the few New York successes that ran well into the summer and continued to draw capacity houses long after the blistering New York heat had set in. It has also the unusual distinction of having scored notable triumphs in both Chicago and New York in the same season, running for four months in the former city and for nearly eight in the latter. The play will be presented at the opera house on Friday, Sept. 19, for an engagement of one night.

"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath" has been described as a fresh, flippant frolic in three acts. It offers as novel and original a plot as has been presented in the theatre in many seasons. It is a broad satire on the sentimental side of feminine nature.—adv.
